

Perry Health Center

Loysville, Pennsylvania. 1999

Addition and renovations to 1967 health center, doubling original size. Design introduces connections to outdoors not typically found in health care design, such as naturally illuminated interior spaces and framed views of the surrounding countryside. Linear skylights in the public corridors ease way-finding from the clinic's waiting room to its eighteen exam rooms. Interior finishes present a rich palette of color and material, countering preconceptions of sterile examination environments.

234 Liberty Street

Harrisburg, PA 17101

717.230.9660

Fax 717.230.9664

www.oparchitecture.com